

One very cold day a woman jumped into the river in front of the hospital in Cambridge Maryland, after a crabbing man got her out of the water and into his boat and give her a cup of coffee, he asked her why?

She said, she was going to therapy and it was working. She was happy and in love then then she said I realized that I was the patient and not the doctor and then it got worse when I figured out I was not God.

Barry Wyatt Jr.
My songs are my prayers
Linking my songs together creates my life story